MANTUA & FERRARA

OVERVIEW

From its source high in the Cottian Alps, the River Po weaves its way across the fertile plains of Northern Italy before reaching its vast delta in the Adriatic Sea. The poet Virgil called it the King of Rivers and it has for centuries been the lifeblood of the Italian economy.

Led by Dr Jeni Ryde, this new 18-day tour follows the Po from Turin to the Adriatic, exploring the beautiful Renaissance cities of Parma, Mantova and Ferrara as well as smaller gems such as Cremona, Pavia, Sabbioneta and Comacchio.

Along the way we discover the extraordinary architectural and artistic legacy of visionary family dynasties such as the Visconti, the Farnese, the Gonzaga, the Este and the modern day Agnelli and enjoy the spectacular scenery of Lombardy and Emilia Romagna.

The tour is rounded out with the exceptional cuisine of Northern Italy, where varying terrain ensures a superlative gastronomy and wide selection of local wines.

Our day begins with a guided visit of the outstanding Museo Egizio, one of the oldest collections of Egyptian artefacts in the world. After lunch we drive to the avant-garde Linghotto building, famous as FIAT's first factory with its rooftop test track.

After Linghotto became obsolete in the 1970s the building was repurposed by the architect Renzo Piano and includes an exceptional art gallery, the Scigno or casket, displaying works from the Agnelli family's private collection.
